An employee from my favorite restaurant said that they are throwing away lots of food at the end of the day

Some products I like are now very expensive and I can't afford them, only when they have a discount meals getting more People expensive wasting food becaus they buy too much

Some restaurants are getting very expensive, I can't afford to take my whole family to dinner

Supermarkets should be throwing away many food at the end of the day

Restaurants

regulated to sell products at lower prices when they are about to expire.

Restaurants losing money because of food they couldn't sell

Prices of Food in supermarkets about to expire and that people don't buy

People don't like to buy soon-toexpire products

Thinks

Feels

Sees

Angry that people are wasting many food

> Sad that she are more expensive

Mother of a family

Does

Buy food when they have a discount, even if they are going to expire soon can't afford products that

Excited when she sees that some products have a discount

Share with other people the discounts she sees

> Find restaurants that sell their food cheapier at the end of the day

Concerned about what is going to happen if many food continues to be wasted

Frustrated that many products are getting more and more expensive